

The Federal Court of Australia, with the IFA Australian branch and the Melbourne Law School, invites you to a presentation and panel discussion on:

Deciding Tax Cases in an International Context

MELBOURNE and Livestream
TOPIC	Deciding Tax Cases in an International Context In today's rapidly changing era of taxation post-BEPS, this panel addresses the judicial approach to deciding tax cases in an international context. It will commence with an expert presentation from Dr Péter Darák, President of the Curia, the supreme judicial authority of Hungary, on deciding tax cases in the international and European tax context, in a civil law jurisdiction. A panel of experts will provide comments from an Australian perspective including on recent cases, and the Chair will facilitate a panel discussion and questions from the floor. Topics include different approaches to statutory and tax treaty interpretation in the new international tax era; tax incentives and state aid in Europe; and interpretation of specific and general anti-abuse rules.
