INTRODUCTION

4. The purpose of this Practice Note is to reduce delays in proceedings on indictment with an estimated duration of six or more weeks by enabling the court to order the prosecutor and the accused person to attend one or more readiness hearings.

5. This Practice Note responds to the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Act 1986, Part 3, Division 3 ('Case management provisions and other provisions to reduce delays in proceedings').

PROCESS

6. At the first mention of proceedings in the court or at any other time, the court may order the prosecutor and the accused person to attend one or more readiness hearings before the court.
7. During the readiness hearing, the court may make any such orders, determinations or findings, or give such directions or rulings, as it thinks appropriate to identify the issues in contention and for the efficient management and conduct of the trial.
8. Case management measures available to the court during the readiness hearing include the ordering of pre-trial hearings, pre-trial conferences and further pre-trial disclosure. The court has discretion in determining which (if any) measures are suitable in the proceedings concerned.
9. The following persons must be present during the readiness hearing:
  - a. the prosecutor,
  - b. the Australian legal practitioner representing the accused person, and
  - c. the accused person, if not represented by an Australian legal practitioner and not in custody.
10. The accused person is not required and is not expected to be present at the readiness hearing provided he or she is represented by an Australian legal practitioner.
11. The readiness hearing will be vacated and the matter listed for directions in the arraignment list where the accused person is not represented by an Australian legal practitioner and is in custody.
12. The prosecutor and the accused person's legal representatives are to be present at the readiness hearing with full knowledge of the state of the proceedings.
13. Readiness hearings will normally be fixed at least six weeks prior to the date set for trial and held in courtroom 21 A, Level 21, John Maddison Tower, 86 Goulburn Street, Sydney, NSW 2000.
