

Judicial Commission of NSW

NEW SOUTH WALES
BAR ASSOCIATION

THE LAW SOCIETY
OF NEW SOUTH WALES

Aboriginal trauma, Foetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorder and the juvenile justice system: a volatile cocktail

Presented by: June Oscar AO and Her Honour Judge Dina Yehia SC

Chair: Anthony McAvoy SC

NSW Bar Association
Common Room, Basement Level,
Selborne Chambers, 174 Phillip
Street, Sydney

5.15pm Thursday 6 October 2016
Light refreshments after the conclusion of the seminar. Registration is required for catering purposes.

1.5 CPD points in Substantive Law, Practice and Procedure, or Evidence

June Oscar AO, 2016 Desmond Tutu Fellow and proud Bunuba woman from the Central Kimberley: June has championed and led the community health and social reforms in Fitzroy Crossing WA, to tackle and eradicate the social, psychological and community dysfunction in FX arising from Aboriginal early childhood trauma and foetal alcohol spectrum disorder (FASD). She is a fierce advocate and change agent in her approaches to alcohol and other drug management and health initiatives to reduce the contact between vulnerable Aboriginal young people and the juvenile justice system. She has been pivotal in putting these critical issues on the national agenda for important reforms to improve Aboriginal lives across the country, not only in remote communities.

Named as one of the 50 most influential women in the world for her work in improving the lives of people living in remote Aboriginal communities, June is an esteemed national leader in the work of community reconstruction.

Judge Dina Yehia SC: The proposal for a District Koori Court in NSW.

This seminar is a joint initiative of the NSW Judicial Commission Ngara Yura Committee, the NSW Bar Association Indigenous Barristers' Trust and the Law Society of NSW Indigenous Issues Committee.

REGISTRATION IS REQUIRED

To register please email your full name and organisation to mbatchelor@nswbar.asn.au

NSW Bar Association
Selborne Chambers, B/174 Phillip Street, Sydney

 Continuing Professional Development