Our expert Panel

The Honourable David Collier AM was admitted as a solicitor in 1967, and was called to the Bar in 1981. His practice centred in Parramatta, and he practiced primarily in Family Law and Crime.

He was appointed as Justice of the Family Court of Australia in July 1999, sitting in the Parramatta registry until his retirement from the Court in July 2013.

David Collier was appointed Adjunct Professor of the WSU School of Law in 2013, where he lectures principally in Advocacy.

David Collier was appointed a member of the Order of Australia 2014 for his services to the Law and legal education.

Associate Professor Alpana Roy is an expert in intellectual property law, with a particular focus on trade marks and copyright. She has several years of experience in intellectual property law – in both practice and the academy. Alpana has lectured in a wide range of postgraduate and undergraduate intellectual property and commercial law subjects at various universities, including the University of Sydney, the University of Queensland, the University of Technology Sydney, and Western Sydney University where she is currently an Associate Professor in the School of Law. Alpana is widely published in intellectual property law, and is a commissioned author for several major legal publishers, including Thomson Reuters, Federation Press, LexisNexis, Oxford University Press, and CCH. She is also regularly invited to speak at international and national seminars on a broad range of intellectual property topics.

Alpana is regularly engaged to work as a legal consultant and practitioner in intellectual property and commercial law. She has extensive experience in Australian and international intellectual property law, having worked in Sydney for two top-tier corporate law firms, boutique specialist firms, and various private and public sector bodies. Alpana has practised both as a solicitor and a barrister (at the Sydney Bar), mediator, and has also worked internationally as a lawyer. She has been involved in a number of leading cases in the Federal Court of Australia.

Alpana is admitted to practise in NSW, and is on the Roll of Legal Practitioners for the High Court of Australia. She is an accredited mediator, and has also been appointed on the Law Society of New South Wales Mediators Panel.

Dr Stephen Janes Dr Stephen Janes BEc LLB (Hons) PhD (Syd) was admitted as a Barrister in 1991 and practised in Commercial, Equity and Succession law having previously practised as a Solicitor.
