1.5 HOUR SEMINAR

1.5 CPD POINTS IN THE
SUBSTANTIVE LAW STRAND

On 2 April 2014, the High Court unanimously held that the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act 1995 (NSW) recognises that a person may be neither male nor female, and so permits the registration of a person's sex as "non specific".

Norrie, the respondent to the High Court appeal, who is a celebrated Sydney iconoclast, together with other gender diverse activists, lobbied for the passage of the Act. Norrie will discuss why the Act was necessary and the circumstances leading to the litigation.

David Bennett AC QC, who appeared for Norrie, will discuss the approach to statutory construction taken by the Court and the possible impact of the decision on any future consideration of analogous legislation.

Joanna Davidson, Barrister, will discuss how the Norrie case sits within a growing trend towards legal recognition of differences of sex and gender.
