

200 TICKETS ONLY AT $100 EACH

Arts Law offers a work by 2015 National Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Art Award winner
Jukuja Dolly Snell as First Prize!

buy now

Kurtal-Living Water by Jukuja Dolly Snell
Atelier acrylic paint on 14oz canvas 120cm x 120cm

1st PRIZE

Painting by Jukuja Dolly Snell

Valued at $5,500

Image courtesy Mangkaja Arts

Jukuja Dolly Snell was born at a jila (permanent waterhole) called Kurtal around 1933. Jukuja's paintings depict Mangarri (bush tucker) and plants, Kurtal jila (living waterhole), jilji (sandhills), Marrajati, Kilan Kilan and surrounding country in the Great Sandy Desert.

"When I paint I paint Kurtal. I paint one country. I can't paint other country."

2nd PRIZE

Painting by Bronwyn Bancroft

Valued at $2,500

Bronwyn Bancroft has been painting for over 30 years and has a diverse artistic practice including public art commissions and imagery design for private commission. Her unique paintings are exhibited nationally and internationally. Bronwyn holds several Board positions and is constantly involved in activism for NSW Aboriginal artists particularly through her voluntary role at Boomalli Aboriginal Artists Co-operative.

Matrilineal Connection Series 4

Bronwyn Bancroft

Acrylic on archival paper 98cm x 79 cm

3rd PRIZE

'Dhari' Torres Strait Islander Headdress

by Darren Compton

Valued at $2,000

Dhari is the Meriam (Mer) word for 'headdress' and is used in the eastern islands. Customarily worn by males, Dhari were traditionally made from Frigate Bird and Torres Strait Pigeon feathers. Darren's Dhari is made with goose feathers, cane, red twine and dowel.

Darren Compton, a proud descendent of Bundjalung, Munanjali, Gamillaraay nations of the mainland, and the Mer people of the Torres Strait and is inspired by Yaputhung Nalung, his mother's heart beat and the ground beneath his feet.

65cm x 55cm

buy now

To be drawn on the evening of our 2015 Fundraising Concert
starring Simon Tedeschi and Kevin Hunt

Funds raised will support Arts Law's essential work in helping Australian artists; in particular contributing to the Artists in the Black program, a unique legal service providing specialised legal advice and support for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander artists especially in regional and remote parts of Australia.

The raffle will be drawn 9PM 5 November 2015 at The New Hall, Sydney Grammar School, Yurong Street Darlinghurst.

If not present on the night winners will be notified by email, and results published on Arts Law's website.