

Australian National Contact Point for Responsible Business Conduct

Business and human rights in practice: Webinar for legal practitioners on Australia's unique complaints mechanism

5–6pm, AEDT

Thursday, 10 November 2022

Presented by Shanta Martin
AusNCP Independent Examiner and Barrister

An increasing number of human rights complaints about multinational enterprises are being brought to the Australian National Contact Point for Responsible Business Conduct (AusNCP).

This seminar will cover what makes the AusNCP structure and process unique, how it works, current complaint trends and outcomes, and factors to consider when practitioners are faced with a case that could lead to a complaint under the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises.

The AusNCP promotes Responsible Business Conduct under the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and related due diligence standards. The AusNCP also helps resolve complaints relating to implementation of the OECD Guidelines. See ausncp.gov.au for further information.

This is a free online event on Microsoft Teams. Please register by email to secretariat@ausncp.gov.au to receive a link to attend.
